TAFT'S SINS RETURN TO PLAGUE HIM.

Garfield turned sour only when he learned that his intrigues for reappointment would not succeed. Pinchot was discharged for gross malfeasance in intruding in other departments and for open disobedience of instructions. — San Francisco Chronicle.

The foregoing is a fair sample of the misrepresentation being put forth by the Republican press in a desperate attempt to reflect on Theodore Roosevelt and his associates.

A fitting answer is the final decision, forced by public opinion and the law on the interior department of the Taft administration, which was rendered on last Friday, vindicating Glavis, the man who saved the Alaska coal fields and whose firm stand for the right started the split in the Republican party when the facts of the case as disclosed proved Taft to be a trickster surrounded by an unscrupulous gang of pirates in the employ of the Guggenheims and other powerful interests.

This history of the blocking of the attempted steal by the smelter trust of the great resources of Alaska, is one of the darkest pages in American public life. The indignation aroused by the publicity of the facts in the case stirred the American people to the extent of thoroughly discrediting the Taft administration and caused many of the most prominent men in the Republican party to renounce their allegiance. It was virtually the beginning of the Progressive movement.

A review in brief of the Glavis case tells the story of why Pinchot left the public service and why Garfield joined him in resenting Taft's duplicity.

Claims to immensely valuable coal fields in Alaska had been taken up under obsolete laws, for a purely nominal payment. All these claims were being gathered in by the powerful Guggenheim syndicate which has been taking possession of Alaska. This form of monopolization was forbidden by law. Glavis, an official of the interior department, saw through the scheme and set out to block it. To his alarm he found that the men interested in the grab had powerful influence in the interior department, and that in spite of his protests the claims were about to be delivered over to the syndicate. He went to Gifford Pinchot, forester of the United States, who gave him a letter of introduction to President Taft. The president hastily glanced at the evidence submitted, got a hasty confirmation of his opinion from Attorney General Wickersham and then let the interior department prepare a letter for his signature, vindicating itself. This letter was the foundation for his own public statement on the subject. Glavis was dismissed in disgrace. Happily he enlisted the support of Collier's Weekly, a powerful and free periodical, and the articles that it published caused a congressional investigation. In the course of the inquiry Pinchot sided openly with Glavis, and was dismissed for insubordination.

The report of the Democratic members of the investigating committee, and of Representative E. H. Madison of Kansas, the Republican member, vindicated Glavis and condemned Ballinger. Later Glavis was sustained at every point in his contention regarding the illegality of Alaskan claims, and now the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Fisher, who succeeded Ballinger, has approved the findings of the department in the matter.

The evidence showed that Secretary Ballinger openly favored delivering the coal lands over to the syndicate and that his subordinates understood his attitude and were acting in accordance with it. After the adverse decision had been announced Ballinger in a statement to the Associated Press denounced it bitterly as a "political" decision.

There is not the slightest question that had Glavis kept silent the claims would long ago have been turned over to the Guggenheims.

In the light of this record what is to be thought of Attorney General Wickersham's report to the President in which he said:

"Glavis's actions appear to have been founded on a wholly exaggerated sense of his own importance and a desire for personal advancement rather than on any genuine desire to protect the interests of the government, and this species of megalomania has finally led him to submit to you charges of improper motives and conduct against his official superiors which in my opinion are so unjust and unfounded as to merit his immediate separation from the service."

What is to be thought of President Taft's public letter to Secretary Ballinger, saying that he had "examined the whole record most carefully," that "the case attempted to be made by Mr. Glavis embraces only speculations of suspicions," and that therefore, "you are authorized to dismiss L. R. Glavis from the service of the government for filing a disingenuous statement, unjustly impeaching the official integrity of his superior officers?"

And what is to be thought of the dismissal of Pinchot for upholding Glavis in his fight to keep the coal lands for the Nation?

Secretary Fisher's action in its implications is the severest possible criticism of the course of the administration in one of its most important policies, it is furthermore a complete reply to such papers as the Salt Lake Tribune and Telegram which have been denouncing the Pinchot-Glavis conservation policy that "prevented the development of Alaska."

COLORADO'S PRIMARIES.

Roosevelt, before the Colorado primaries, advised the Progressives not to take part in the Republican primaries. When the votes were counted last week, it was found that, while two years ago, the Republican primary vote in Denver was 16,000, on last Tuesday the vote was only 4,000.

The vote in the state was only one-fifth of the normal. That indicates certain defeat for the Republican party in the Centennial state.

WILL NOT PRINT THE NEWS.

Again we are impelled to call attention to the omission by the Salt Lake Herald-Republican of Associated Press dispatches telling of Roosevelt's wonderful receptions at the hands of the people.

The greatest political demonstration ever seen in Los Angeles was the welcome accorded Roosevelt on his arrival in that city yesterday. The streets were so packed with eager admirers of the Progressive leader that the police were required to open an avenue for the automobile in which Roosevelt was riding. Seemingly the entire city had joined in the ovation.

This remarkable event was carried in an Associated Press dispatch, but not one word was allowed to appear in the federal bunch organ this morning.

That is a double confession of fear and trickery. The readers are being tricked by being led to believe they are obtaining the political news of the day; and the influences back of the paper, in suppressing mention of Roosevelt's triumphant achievements, admit they dare not tell the whole truth of the campaign's progress because they know that if the public be well informed, their cause is hopeless.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.

A Standpat paper asks: "If the Republican convention had nominated Roosevelt, would it have been boss ridden and privileged controlled?"

Let us ask the question in a slightly different form: "If the Republican convention had cleansed itself of its impurities by rejecting the report of the credentials committee seating 72 stolen delegates, would the convention have been boss ridden?"

To which we answer, No!

Had the delegates from Arizona, Texas, Washington and California, pledged to Roosevelt, been seated, the convention would have been dominated and controlled by the Progressive element of the party and the bosses would have been suppressed, relegated to the rear or kicked out. Barnes of New York, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Guggenheim of Colorado, Crane of Massachusetts, Stevenson of Wisconsin would have been humiliated. They could have remained in the party by subscribing to the doctrines of equal rights and the principles of righteousness and subordinating themselves to the party's higher aims, obeying their superiors rather than being obeyed, and in many other ways comporting themselves as honest American citizens laboring for good government, otherwise they would have been in extreme danger of feeling the force of the "big stick."

OH, PROMISE ME.

Have you heard the latest song? With the permission of the Philadelphia North American, the Standard reproduces it: (Song by Hon. Boies Penrose, under the window of John D. Archbold, by moonlight, with soft accompaniment.)

Oh, promise me, the next time you and I
Shall make a little divy on the sly,
You'll see that there is no one round about,
So Willie Randolph Hearst can't find it out,
And when you want to slip a wad to me,
We'll go away and hide behind a tree,
So yellow journals can't shout "bribery!"
Oh, promise me! Oh, promise me!

MAINE A PROGRESSIVE VICTORY.

There has been an effort made on the part of the reactionaries to point to the Maine election as a Standpat victory. We quote from the speech of Governor-Elect Haines, delivered before the Haines club of Waterville, Maine, as follows:

"I believe in the equal chance, like the policy upheld by the great Theodore Roosevelt—a square deal for all."

Haines was acknowledged to be a Progressive and the Progressive leaders were in charge of the campaign in the Maine election.

A telegram received at the National Progressive headquarters from National Committeeman H. P. Gardner, announces that Roosevelt and Johnson clubs are being formed right and left in the towns of Maine.

Maine is counted on to give Roosevelt its electoral vote.

LABOR NEWS OF ALL COUNTRIES

The telegraphers employed by the M. C. R. in Canada and the company have reached an agreement as to the rate of wages and working conditions. The increase in pay amounts to as high as $10 a month, in some cases.

After a short strike, the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' union has reached an agreement with the Erectors' association of the Pacific where, by the structural iron workers will receive an increase of $1 per day in wages.

The executive council of the A. F. of L. is considering the re-adjustment of international unions along industrial lines, and is preparing a recommendation to this effect which will be submitted to the coming convention of the A. F. of L.

A convention of the machinists employed on the Northern Railway of Canada will meet in Toronto on September 14th. The chief subject of discussion will be the debate on a resolution to consolidate the entire membership under one head.

In the last quarter, 2,629 applicants for membership in the Mothers' International union were obligated, 3,187 suspended members reinstated and $39,921 was paid in benefits. The international union has, since 1899, paid $2,111,100 in benefits.

In honor of the centenary of the great Krupp armament works at Essen, Germany, the company has donated $3,500,000 to be distributed as gratuities to the $65,000 workmen, as welfare funds for citizens of Essen and for the army and navy.

Recently the South Wales coal owners' representatives on the Consolidation board agreed to the miners' demand for 6 1/4 per cent increase in the standard rate of wages. This concession is 2 1/4 per cent above the maximum fixed by the present agreement.

DEMOCRAT FEARS THE NEW PARTY

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17.—A. M. Morrissey, Democratic nominee for attorney general, has filed with the secretary of state a protest against placing the names of the Progressive party candidates on the ballot in the general election.

He charges that the petition filed by the third party is not signed by 500 bona fide electors, the number required by the state law, and that many of the signatures are forged. He also declares that a new party must have the names of its candidates on the primary ballot in order to be represented on the ballot in the general election.

DENIES HE HAS CURE FOR CANCER

Munster, Prussia, Sept. 17.—Professor Vinzenz Czerny, surgeon and bacteriologist at Heidelberg university and a world famous investigator of cancer, has sent a communication to the German medical congress dealing with the lately reported cancer cures.

A specific remedy for cancer has not yet been found, he says, and possibly never will be discovered. The widely heralded Chemo-Therapeutic treatment by metallic salts, the professor continues, only rarely has cured mice and it is too dangerous as yet to apply to human beings.

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS

Don't Neglect a Cold, Ely's Cream Balm Will Stop It in the Sneezing Stage.

A cold generally attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in some and producing nasal catarrh and throat trouble in others. A cold is due to an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm which immediately relieves the inflammation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, hoarseness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic Balm acts so quickly is because it is applied directly to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe, chronic cases of catarrh, Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectually check the poisonous discharge which clogs the head and throat, causing the disgusting hacking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only drives out the disease, but heals and strengthens the weakened membranes, thus ending catarrh. Catarrh is a filthy, disgusting disease. Don't put up with it another day. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and see how quickly you will be relieved. It is perfectly harmless.

VOILE GOWN FOR MATRON.

A cotton voile for an elderly matron who desires style combined with conservatism is pictured today. The fichu and knife pleated ruffles should appeal especially to this type of woman. Black and white voile was used in the development and being striped produced a wonderfully pretty and airy effect in the pleating. White shadow lace was used for yoke and collar. The fichu was of the material with ruffles of the same. The long sleeves were slightly gathered at the seams and finished at the hand with a ruffle of the material and lace insertion. The short tulle folds to the left and is edged with a graduated ruffle of the pleated material.

Two Valuable Recipes for the Hair and Skin

Washing the head with soap results in discolored, "stringy" hair and a scalp that is dry and scaly or unduly oily. Shampooing with canthrox soon corrects the condition that causes this, and a teaspoonful dissolved in a cup hot water is ample for the thickened head of hair. Canthrox is soothing and invigorating and not alone cleanses thoroughly and completely, but stimulates the hair-roots to healthy activity. Hair shampooed with canthrox is already soft, fluffy, lustrous and of a rich, even color.

Women having serious complexion troubles invariably use just a plain spritzing 4 ounces sprumax in 1-2 pint witch hazel or hot water to which has been added 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The lotion dries quickly and cannot be detected when on and gives to the finest complexion an added charm and elegance. It is especially good to clear the skin of pimples, blackheads, blotches, sallowness, oiliness and other complexion defects and to protect it from harsh or cold winds.

REPLIES TO BEVERIDGE

Wilson Makes Several Impromptu Speeches From His Car

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Throughout Ohio and Indiana Governor Wilson did some impromptu campaigning today that was as vigorous as it was unexpected.

No previous arrangement had been made for speeches and the train schedule was twisted by delays early in the day but crowds gathered along the route and Governor Wilson made nearly a dozen speeches from his car. He replied to Senator Beveridge of Indiana, who charged in a recent speech that Governor Wilson, if elected, would be boss controlled. State Senator Fred Klatsner and Mayor Fickler of Logansport, Ind., boarded the train and told Mr. Wilson about Senator Beveridge's speech so that when the Democratic candidate reached Logansport, he hit at Beveridge to a large crowd.

"I understand that in a speech made last Saturday night," said Governor Wilson, "a very much esteemed friend of mine, namely, Senator Beveridge, said that he entertained a very serious fear about me, namely, that if I were elected president, I would be controlled by the bosses. I never suspected before that Senator Beveridge was a humorist, because if he didn't know that was a joke, he ought to have known that it was a joke. When did he ever hear that I had changed all my political habits?"

How to Tell Boss.
"The way you can tell whether a man is going to be controlled by the bosses is to judge whether he has been a boss or not. Do you know what a boss is? A boss is a political agent of certain special interests who see to it through him that the people they can control are put in office and that laws they don't want are kept off the statute books; and the men who do that are the men who are interested in the great monopolies of this country."

"I am sorry to observe that whereas the Republican party has practically fostered the trusts, and the Democratic party proposes to prevent monopoly in this country the third party represented by Senator Beveridge, proposes to take the monopoly into partnership with the government by accepting it as an inevitable necessity, and bringing it under the regulation of law; that is to say, making it a legalized institution of the country."

"And when the men who have created monopoly are accepted partners of the government do you suppose they are going to disperse with the men who are their necessary agents, namely, the bosses who determine who are to occupy office and what the legislation is to be?"

"Who created monopoly?" interrupted a man in the crowd and he repeated his question several times.

Wilson Makes Reply.
"The men who created monopoly my friend," continued the governor, "are the men who have taken advantage of the protective tariff to get together to make great combinations of industry to shut out competition and to make sure that the prices are in their own control. And every Republican leader in our generation has been in league with those men."

"Who are they?" broke in another voice, and the governor's reply brought cheers.
"They are the men who have set up the great trusts," he said. "Everybody knows the list of them. These men are the heads of the steel trust, of the tobacco trust, of the Standard Oil trust, and of all the other trusts that everybody knows. I am surprised that you didn't know the names of them before. These men have supported those who have controlled our government in the last fifteen years and they are supporting them still. And I for one do not intend to entertain any hope of the government of the United States being freed from the control of trusts and the control of bosses who are the agents of trusts, through the instrumentality of the adoption of the trusts into the care of the government itself."

Would Free Government.
"I am not here to attack the reputation or the integrity or the purpose of any man but the only way you can tell whether a man can assist you in politics or not is by finding out whether he is following the direction in which freedom is to be discovered. These gentlemen have not found the direction for it, and do not even propose the abolition of monopoly and until the government is free it cannot serve you or any man."

"Now, you can't tell by looking at me whether I am the man to do this job or not. You cannot tell the contents of my character by looking at my face. But I want you to study the programs that lie back of the various candidates."

The governor was well received throughout the day. He shook hands with people who flocked to the rear platform and waved greetings to those not so near. The nominee expected to be two hours late into Chicago but the railroad attached an extra locomotive and brought the candidate to Chicago only seven minutes late.

His car was switched around for a half hour and tacked on a Chicago & Northwestern train, leaving Chicago at 6:05 o'clock for Sioux City, Ia., and Sioux Falls, S. D., where two speeches are scheduled for tomorrow.

VERDICT OF NOTED SOUTHERN JURIST

Dallas Judge Personally Tests and Passes on the Merits of Plant Juice.

The following statement is from Judge E. L. Walker of 2115 Trinidad Street, Dallas, Texas. Judge Walker is 61 years old; he was formerly County Judge at Breckenridge, Stevens County. He has found Plant Juice to be all that is claimed for it, as the following statement shows:

"Nothing has ever given me such quick relief from rheumatism as Plant Juice. I have long suffered with rheumatism in my back; the pain was almost constant and at times most severe. One bottle of Plant Juice has relieved me as nothing else ever did. I feel sure that it will eventually cure me. I am glad to recommend your most excellent preparation."

People everywhere are being cured of rheumatism just as Judge Walker has been by the use of Plant Juice. It is the most potent solvent of uric acid, that poison that escapes from weak kidneys and which is the cause of rheumatism; all catarrhal ailments and diseases of the stomach, kidneys, liver and blood are relieved and permanently cured by the use of Plant Juice. It is a vegetable tonic made from the juices of medicinal plants and will do you more good than anything you have ever tried. The Plant Juice man is at McIntyre's drug store; go and ask him about it. Your money back if it does not help you.
